- CENTCOM: Axios reports US preparations for possible major combat with Iran are nearly complete, while Trump keeps a deal open and Democratic leaders vow to use war powers and funding to end the war. [21][22][24][26][27]

Indonesia moved about 21,000 troops to Jakarta amid a wiretapping case framed as possible treason, and Hong Kong jailed Joshua Wong for 10 more years. [54][57][60][62]

- NORTHCOM: Democrats flipped seven Senate seats, including Maine and Kansas, and hold at least 54. Alaska and Mississippi remain undecided, with Mississippi separated by a few dozen votes. Trump promised vetoes while offering to "work together." [74][75][78][80][82]

// AFRICOM

SOUTH AFRICA: ANC narrowly leads DA in early municipal count

With about 12% of votes counted, Reuters reported the ANC on about 32% and the DA on 31%; a CSIR projection puts the final ANC share near 32% and the DA near 26%. The ANC won 46% in 2021. [1] About 14.5 million ballots were cast, and the IEC hopes to declare final results by the weekend. [2] By 0700Z on 5 November, 35.5% of result slips had been received. [3] A record number of hung councils is expected. [4] No significant post-poll unrest was reported.

Assessment: The ANC is likely heading for its worst municipal result, with hung metros in Gauteng and coalition bargaining from about 8 November.

TANZANIA: Lissu verdict due 6 November

The Citizen confirmed the High Court will deliver its judgment in Tundu Lissu's treason trial on 6 November. [5] ACT-Wazalendo leader Dorothy Semu said "Lissu's case is political and requires a political solution." [6] No new deployments, arrests or internet restrictions were verified in the window.

Assessment: The verdict is the main flashpoint in East Africa; a conviction could trigger protests and a heavy security response.

SUDAN: UN condemns escalating drone war on the power grid

Radio Dabanga reported the UN Secretary-General's condemnation of "escalating drone attacks by parties to the conflict," with at least 14 civilians killed in recent strikes in Kordofan and Blue Nile. Power stations in Kassala and a substation in Merowe were hit on 3 November. [7] White Nile power is rationed after a blackout. [8] Darfur24 reported more than 10 killed at a South Kordofan fuel station, possibly the same incident Dabanga counts at 4. [9] No Ethiopian reply or UN action on Sudan's complaint was found.

SOMALIA: President dismisses chief justice hearing the constitutional challenge

President Hassan Sheikh Mohamud dismissed Chief Justice Bashe Yusuf days after the court took up an opposition petition against the new constitution, and named a ruling-party associate in his place. [10] Somali Guardian also reports intensified Turkish airstrikes, citing residents. [11]

Assessment: The dismissal undercuts the "final" dialogue agreed on 3 November and could collapse the talks.

DRC: Army retakes Mirindano; M23 coalition threatens to quit Doha talks

Local sources say FARDC and Wazalendo forces retook Mirindano in Masisi; at least four civilians were killed. [12] Pre-window onset. The Kabila-led FRN coalition, which includes M23 leaders, said it may leave the Doha talks over a planned constitutional referendum. [13]

Assessment: Fighting and the referendum dispute both strain the Doha framework.

DRC: Ituri governor warns of slackening Ebola measures

Ituri Governor Gen. Gaby Kasongo said he was concerned at the "relâchement des mesures préventives." [14] The outbreak has killed more than 5,300 people. [15]

NIGER / ALGERIA / CHAD: Algerian FM carries letters to Niamey and N'Djamena

Tiani received Algerian Foreign Minister Attaf, who delivered a letter from Tebboune and cited a "dynamique sans précédent." [16] ActuNiger reads Attaf's tour, including N'Djamena, as an implicit mediation offer in the Niger-Chad dispute. [17]

Assessment: Algiers is positioning itself as a broker in the Sahel.

MALI / BURKINA FASO: Goïta due in Ouagadougou

Burkina Faso's presidency announced a "visite de travail et d'amitié" by Mali's Gen. Assimi Goïta on 5 November. [18]

Assessment: The visit likely centres on AES security coordination amid JNIM pressure.

NIGERIA: Gunmen kill four in a Benue market

Gunmen on motorcycles killed at least four, including a pastor, at a market in Logo LGA. [19] Vanguard reports eight injured and calls the attackers "suspected armed herders." [20]

Collection gap: No South African turnout figure. No reporting from Dar es Salaam on the eve of the verdict. No Sudan-Ethiopia update or El Fasher coverage. Nothing in-window for Ethiopia-Eritrea, Libya or attacks in Mali and Burkina.

// CENTCOM

IRAN / US: Strikes still on the table; Axios says combat preparations near completion

Axios reports the US military is finishing preparations for possible major combat operations, including moving more assets to the region. Vice President Vance reportedly leads advisers who favour a deal, while CIA Director Ratcliffe and Treasury Secretary Bessent favour keeping the naval blockade and economic pressure. [21] Trump said it was "largely true" that the war cost Republicans the midterms but "I would have done nothing different," and Vance posted that "the reason we lost is the war." [21] [22] CBS, citing unnamed sources, reports that Trump has asked advisers whether Defense Secretary Hegseth should go; no decision has been made. [22] No new US strike and no on-record CENTCOM statement were reported in the window.

Assessment: The administration is likely preparing for escalation while still pursuing a deal, and the midterm result has not materially lowered the chance of renewed strikes.

UNITED STATES: Democratic leaders promise to use war powers and funding to end the war

Senate Democratic Leader Schumer said the war "must end" and pointed to the incoming majority's power of the purse; House Democratic leader Jeffries urged Trump to end it "before we even cross over into the new Congress." Rep. Jason Crow said Democrats would use war powers votes and appropriations. [22] Treasury separately sanctioned a network run by two Indian nationals that allegedly gave Iran's shadow fleet false flags and fake certifications. [22]

Assessment: Binding congressional limits only begin when the new Congress sits, so the near-term pressure is political rather than legal.

IRAN: Tehran dismisses any US shift and keeps the Omani channel open

A statement attributed to Supreme Leader Mojtaba Khamenei said hopes of a change in US policy were "seriously mistaken" and warned the war could widen; he has still not appeared in public. [22] SNSC head Mohsen Rezaei claimed Trump suffered a "strategic defeat on the battlefield and in the Hormuz." IRGC ground forces commander Mohammad Karami said units on the Gulf islands are ready to respond forcefully. [21] [23] Foreign Minister Araghchi spoke with Omani counterpart Albusaidi, Kharg Island held an air-defence drill, and President Pezeshkian ordered state agencies to cut energy use by 20%. [23]

Assessment: Tehran reads the midterms as a US defeat and is very unlikely to offer concessions soon, while preparing at home for possible strikes.

QATAR: Draft still awaiting replies from both sides

Gulf News reports Qatari mediators are still seeking US and Iranian backing for a draft; neither side is reported to have accepted it. [24] The draft reportedly sets out a three-day sequence of confidence-building steps that could restart direct talks "within days." [24] [25] Iran says Hormuz will not reopen until the US ends the blockade, eases sanctions and releases frozen funds. [24] Reuters, via CBS, said Qatar expected feedback "within 36 hours"; no response had been reported by the end of the window. [22] This reporting does not support Wednesday's unconfirmed claim that a draft had been approved.

Assessment: The Qatari track is alive but stalled on Hormuz access and sanctions relief.

GULF / HORMUZ: Tanker hit north of Qatar; IRGC claims more ships on fire

UKMTO said a tanker was hit by two unidentified projectiles about 50 nautical miles north of Madinat ash Shamal, Qatar, at 2320Z on 4 November; crew status and damage are unknown. [23] [22] Iranian state media said the IRGC reported one tanker struck a mine on an "unauthorized route," a supertanker caught fire leaving the strait, and a tug burned. The IRGC also claimed it seized two US drones and shot down an MQ-1 over Qeshm. [23] [22] None of the IRGC claims has been verified.

Assessment: An attack this deep in the Gulf, near Qatar, extends the threat to shipping well beyond the strait itself.

ENERGY: Brent falls below $100 on diplomacy bets

Brent fell nearly 8% on Wednesday to about $94, its lowest since September. [22] Early on 5 November Brent futures stood at $93.63, WTI at $87.13 and Murban at $100.90. Traders cited Trump's "no immediate plans" remark and the Qatari mediation. [26] Outlets differ on Tuesday's settlement ($103 per CBS, $103.60 per Gulf News); Wednesday's report cited $104.42, an early-Wednesday price before the drop. [22] [24]

Assessment: The market is pricing de-escalation even as tanker attacks continue, so a strike or a confirmed casualty could quickly reverse the fall.

ISRAEL: Eisenkot leads on recommendations as a Haredi faction withholds support from Netanyahu

On the first day of consultations, Degel HaTorah (four of UTJ's seven seats) declined to recommend anyone, which the Times of Israel links to the Haredi draft dispute. Likud, Religious Zionism, Otzma Yehudit, Shas and Zehut recommended Netanyahu; Yashar, the Democrats, B'Yachad, Yisrael Beytenu and Ra'am recommended Eisenkot. [27] [28] The Times of Israel expects at least 56 recommendations for Eisenkot against 53 for Netanyahu; Al Jazeera, citing Channel 12, says the Joint List could take him past 61. [27] [29] Herzog said "the elections are over. Now is the time to face reality." Day two began on 5 November; the Knesset convenes on 10 November. [28] [29]

Assessment: Netanyahu is likely to lose the first mandate, but Eisenkot's path to 61 depends on Arab parties that parts of his own bloc oppose.

SAUDI ARABIA / YEMEN: Houthis reportedly demand $51 billion and recognition

Outlets citing the Wall Street Journal report the Houthis want $51 billion in compensation and Saudi recognition as Yemen's rulers after Riyadh approached them about a negotiated halt; no agreement has been announced. [30] [31] The Houthis claimed a ballistic missile strike on Riyadh's King Khalid airport and the downing of a Saudi drone over Taiz; Saudi Arabia did not comment. [22] Saudi Civil Defense issued and then lifted a danger alert for Sharurah. [23]

Assessment: The Houthis are negotiating from strength while Riyadh is militarily constrained.

SYRIA / SAUDI ARABIA: Defence pact and $403 million in loans

President al-Sharaa and Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman signed a defence cooperation agreement in Riyadh on 4 November, with terms undisclosed. The Saudi Fund for Development agreed $403 million in concessional loans, including $90 million for the Aleppo power plant. [32]

Assessment: Riyadh is likely courting Damascus as it looks for military partners against the Houthis.

LEBANON: First deadly Israeli strike since September

Lebanon's health ministry said an Israeli drone strike near Qabrikha killed a motorcyclist, the first such death since September; the IDF said it "struck two suspects who were observing IDF soldiers." [33] Prime Minister Nawaf Salam warned of the "risks of renewed war." [22] Pre-window onset.

Assessment: The first deadly strike in weeks suggests the ceasefire in the south is weakening.

EGYPT / GAZA: Sisi backs Gulf security; one killed in Gaza tent strike

President el-Sisi said Arab security "is indivisible" and that Cairo rejects threats to Saudi Arabia and the Gulf. [34] An Israeli drone strike on a displacement tent west of al-Zawayda killed one man early on 5 November, per Al-Aqsa hospital; the health ministry toll since the ceasefire still stands at 1,599. [35]

Assessment: Cairo is aligning publicly with Riyadh, and low-level violence in Gaza continues.

PAKISTAN: BLA claims 40 personnel killed in Balochistan

The Baloch Liberation Army claims it killed more than 40 Pakistani personnel in over 25 attacks between 26 October and 3 November; ISPR has issued no figures. [36] The claim comes from a militant group via a partisan outlet and is unverified.

Assessment: Low confidence; the claim indicates sustained insurgent activity but the figures cannot be confirmed.

Collection gap: No in-window reporting on Iraq militias, Jordan, Central Asia or the Afghanistan-Pakistan border. No on-record CENTCOM or Hegseth statement. Herzog's day-two results were not reported by 1100Z. Axios did not load, so Axios material is second-hand.

// EUCOM

UKRAINE: Russia launches 128 drones and two missiles; logistics sites hit

Ukraine's Air Force said 105 of 128 drones were downed or suppressed, with impacts at 18 locations. [37] [38] A woman was killed in Putyvl, a postal terminal near Kharkiv was hit twice, and a logistics site near Kyiv burned. [39] [38] Russia claimed hits on a substation and a cargo ship off Odesa; Ukraine has not confirmed them. [40]

Assessment: The raid was smaller than the previous night's, and Russia is adding logistics and postal targets to its energy campaign.

UKRAINE: Komyshuvakha toll rises to 42

National Police said 42 bodies had been recovered and up to 33 people may remain under rubble. [41]

Assessment: The toll will likely rise further, making this one of the war's deadliest single strikes on civilians.

RUSSIA: Ryazan refinery hit, the fifth in a week

Ryazan's governor said more than 200 drones attacked the region, causing fires at industrial sites. [40] [42] Euromaidan Press counts five refineries hit since 30 October. [43]

UKRAINE: 184 combat engagements; Pokrovsk axis busiest

The General Staff reported 184 engagements, with 17 attacks repelled on the Pokrovsk axis. [44] ISW's latest verified assessment says Russia is reinforcing the Huliaipole and western Zaporizhzhia axes. [45]

Assessment: Pressure is concentrated on Pokrovsk-Dobropillia and Kostiantynivka, with no breakthrough reported.

UKRAINE / EUROPE: Brussels talks focus on financing; guarantees deferred

Rustem Umerov met European, US, UK, NATO and World Bank officials on reconstruction and Ukraine's 2027 budget gap, saying "the next phase will focus on security guarantees." Abu Dhabi talks remain set for 10-11 November. [46]

Assessment: Kyiv heads to Abu Dhabi without an announced guarantee framework.

EUROPE / RUSSIA: Reactions to the US midterms

Spain's Sánchez welcomed the result; a European Parliament vice president said it could help "the support for Ukraine." [47] Kremlin spokesman Peskov hoped Trump would "continue his peace-making efforts," while Ryabkov said Russian policy would not change. [47] [48]

Assessment: Europe reads the result as modestly positive for Ukraine aid; Moscow signals no shift.

FRANCE: Nationwide strike under way with 70,000 police deployed

Interior Minister Nuñez deployed nearly 70,000 police and gendarmes; intelligence services expect 500,000 to 700,000 marchers outside Paris. [49] At least nine in ten TGVs were running, but regional and RER services were disrupted. [50]

Assessment: Large marches are likely, with a risk of clashes in Paris, Lyon and Nantes.

EU ENLARGEMENT: Georgia "de facto halted"; Ukraine and Moldova cleared to open all clusters

The Commission's 2026 package says Georgia's accession is "de facto halted," Turkey's gap with EU criteria has widened, and Ukraine and Moldova may open all remaining clusters. [51] Turkey called the report "prejudiced and unfair." [52]

Assessment: The report formalises a split between Ukraine and Moldova and the backsliding candidates.

POLAND / GERMANY: Third arrest over Starlink-linked station arson

German police arrested a Turkish national accused of commissioning the September arson at a Polish satellite station used by Starlink. [53]

Assessment: The case fits a pattern of proxy sabotage against infrastructure supporting Ukraine; no Russian link has been stated.

Collection gap: No ISW assessment for 3-4 November, no Ukrenergo outage figures, no France turnout figures by 1100Z, and nothing in-window for Georgia protests, Serbia, Moldova or Baltic airspace.

// INDOPACOM

NORTH KOREA: Pyongyang says it tested a new air-defence missile and a cruise-missile strike drill

KCNA said the Missile Administration tested a new anti-aircraft missile system and that a long-range strategic cruise missile unit "flawlessly carried out a strike mission against a simulated airfield target." Kim Jong Un did not attend; it was the fourth launch event since 29 October. [54] South Korea's JCS said the missiles fired from the Sondok area "could potentially have belonged to several different missile types" and has not named them. [55] The South Korean military had earlier put the range under 300 km. [56] A Unification Ministry official linked the launches to the combined Freedom Flag air exercise. [54] No report found that North Korea has switched on its border loudspeakers.

Assessment: The airfield-strike framing points to a counter-air-base message aimed at Freedom Flag; Seoul's caution leaves open whether any missile was ballistic.

TAIWAN: Most PLA sorties cross the median line; coast guard presence rises

Taiwan's MND detected 21 PLA aircraft sorties, 8 navy ships and 8 "official" ships in the 24 hours to 0600 local on 5 November; 19 sorties crossed the median line into the northern, central, southwestern and eastern ADIZ. [57] The day before, 14 of 22 sorties entered only the southwestern and eastern zones, with 5 official ships. [58] Legislators unfroze 74 of 201 frozen defence budget items, including funds for over 1,900 Stinger missiles; NT$12.9 billion for follow-on submarines remains frozen. [59]

Assessment: Totals are flat, but the share of median-line crossings and rising coast guard presence indicate steady gray-zone pressure.

INDONESIA: About 21,000 troops moved to Jakarta amid a wiretapping case framed as possible treason

President Prabowo dismissed his chief of staff, former police chief Listyo Sigit Prabowo, who is detained with two police generals over alleged wiretapping of the president. [60] [61] The military has committed 20,980 personnel, mainly Navy and Marines, and calls the deployment "normal." [60] The

Cabinet Secretary called the surveillance possible "treason." [61] AP and the Jakarta Post differ on the arrest date (1 vs 3 November). [60] [61]

Assessment: This is likely the most serious civil-military-police rupture of Prabowo's term, and it raises the risk of unrest.

CHINA / HONG KONG: Joshua Wong sentenced to 10 more years

A Hong Kong court sentenced Joshua Wong to 10 years for conspiring with Nathan Law and others to seek foreign sanctions; Amnesty called the National Security Law "a tool to punish dissent." [62] [63] TRT, citing SCMP, says the term runs partly concurrently with his current sentence and puts his release in late 2036. [63]

Assessment: Expect Western condemnation ahead of APEC in Shenzhen and a firm rejection from Beijing.

SOUTH KOREA: Audit exposes strains with Washington, including curbed intelligence sharing

Reuters reports a National Assembly audit exposed friction over intelligence sharing, White House access and visa denials. Spy chief Lee Jong-seok acknowledged Washington has curtailed some sensitive intelligence sharing after a minister disclosed the location of a North Korean nuclear site. [64] Defence Minister Kang Shin-chul said Hegseth called the reports "fake news." [64]

Assessment: If confirmed, curbed intelligence sharing is a real cost to the alliance as North Korea steps up testing.

CHINA: Beijing confirms contacts on a three-leader meeting at APEC

Foreign Ministry spokesperson Mao Ning said "China is in communication with relevant parties regarding a meeting between the three heads of state" and repeated that the midterms are "a domestic affair." [65] Pre-window onset. The suspension of China's October 2025 rare-earth controls expires on 10 November; no MOFCOM statement on extending it was found. [66]

Assessment: Beijing is likely holding its rare-earth leverage open until APEC; a silent lapse on 10 November would be a significant escalation.

PHILIPPINES: Inflation at 7.8%; new chief justice before the Duterte trial resumes

October inflation reached 7.8%, the highest since February 2023, with transport at 20.1% and rice at 20.7%. [67] Marcos named Rodil Zalameda chief justice on 5 November. [68] The Senate impeachment trial of Vice President Duterte resumes on 9 November on one remaining article. [69] No new South China Sea incident was found in the window.

BANGLADESH: Government tells garment workers to stop protesting

State Minister Nurul Haque Nur said the wage board had held its first meeting, so further protests were "unnecessary," and questioned whether the proposed Tk 30,000 minimum is feasible. [70] The ICJ will rule on the Gambia v. Myanmar genocide case on 19 November. [71]

Assessment: With workers' two-day deadline running, garment-sector unrest may flare again this week.

INDIA: US sanctions a Chandigarh-based network aiding Iran's shadow fleet

Treasury sanctioned what it called a "vast criminal network" run from Chandigarh that allegedly helped Iranian tankers sail under false flags with fake certifications; Indian nationals Suniel Kumar Sharma and Jaspreet Preeti Shahid were named. [72]

Assessment: New Delhi's response is pending; the case puts Indian nationals directly in the frame of US Iran enforcement.

JAPAN: Police find malware in Chinese-made Android TV devices

Japan's National Police Agency, working with Google, said malware embedded at manufacture in Chinese-made Android TV devices harvests data used in cyberattacks; Google counts more than 1.3 million affected devices. [73]

Assessment: The finding adds to Tokyo's economic-security case against Chinese supply chains; neither report names Beijing as the actor.

Collection gap: Nothing found or loadable on the Senkakus, India-Pakistan, India-China, Australia, the Pacific islands or Myanmar. No update on the 100+ Chinese vessels. Yonhap, Kyodo and NHK did not load.

// NORTHCOM

UNITED STATES: Seven Senate seats flipped, including Maine and Kansas; Democrats hold at least 54

Wednesday's Maine-versus-Kansas discrepancy is resolved: both flipped. Roll Call lists seven Democratic gains: North Carolina, Texas, South Carolina, Kansas, Ohio, Iowa and Maine, where Troy Jackson defeated Sen. Susan Collins. [74] CBS lists the same seven and says Democrats have at least 54 seats, with Alaska and Mississippi unresolved. [75] An earlier CBS article had not yet included Maine, which likely explains the discrepancy. [76] A Newsweek piece lists Michigan as a gain; CBS records it as a hold. [77] [75]

Assessment: The final Senate majority will almost certainly be between 54 and 56, decided by the Alaska and Mississippi counts.

UNITED STATES (ALASKA): Peltola's lead grows to 637 votes

Democrat Mary Peltola led Sen. Dan Sullivan by 637 votes at the state's Wednesday evening update, up from about 300. [78] Further updates are due on 10, 13 and 18 November, with ranked-choice tabulation on 18 November if needed and certification targeted for 25 November. [79] The Justice Department's appeal of the dismissal of its certification suit continues, but final briefs are not due until after the planned certification. [78]

Assessment: Federal court action before certification is unlikely; ranked-choice transfers of about 7,500 minor-candidate votes will decide the seat.

UNITED STATES (MISSISSIPPI): Senate race separated by a few dozen votes

Democrat Scott Colom led Sen. Cindy Hyde-Smith by 43 votes with about 95.6% tabulated early Wednesday; his campaign estimates 10,000 to 15,000 affidavit ballots remain. Mississippi has no federal runoff. [80] A CTV live blog cited a 28-vote lead at a later snapshot. [81] Colom cited "an army of lawyers" and said "we're gonna win." [80]

Assessment: This is the race most likely to produce litigation over ballot validity, and a result may take more than a week.

UNITED STATES: Trump pairs veto threats with offers to "work together"

Trump said Democrats are "in control, but they're really not in control" and promised a "nice stamp veto," while saying he would work with them. [82] On Fox he said "They'll send over things that are insane and I'll veto them," and blamed "the gasoline price" for the losses. [83] The White House account posted "PSA: Trump is still your president." [77] CBS reports Speaker Johnson will not run for minority leader, leaving Jim Jordan and Steve Scalise to compete; Jeffries announced his bid for speaker, and incoming Oversight chair Robert Garcia outlined investigations. [75] [84]

Assessment: Expect a veto-first posture with conditional cooperation; appropriations before January are the likely first test.

UNITED STATES: About three dozen House races still uncalled

270toWin counted 36 to 38 uncalled House races Wednesday, including eight in California and six in North Carolina, where Democrats flipped five Republican seats. [85] CBS gives no final tally; Jeffries predicts "at least 255 seats." [84] A Gray TV report puts Democratic House flips at "at least 29." [86]

Assessment: The majority is not in doubt; the final margin will take days.

UNITED STATES (FLORIDA): Gunman kills one at Citibank campus near Tampa

A gunman opened fire at Citibank's campus in Brandon, killing a woman, before a security guard shot him dead; four others were hospitalized. [87] No motive has been reported, and no election link.

Assessment: This appears to be an isolated criminal incident; no post-election political violence was found in the window.

CANADA: Ottawa cautious in public, privately encouraged; budget due 5 November

Three senior sources told CTV the Carney government is privately "buoyed" by the results. Trade Minister LeBlanc said they are "not going to change the work that we have to do in the next two weeks." [88] The federal budget is tabled on 5 November. [89]

Assessment: LeBlanc's "next two weeks" points to a possible near-term tariff arrangement with the executive branch.

MEXICO: Explosive devices in Mazatlán; violence in Guanajuato

In Mazatlán gunmen killed a lawyer and a fruit vendor, and an explosive device detonated in a residential garage with no injuries; the army disarmed a second device. [90] An attack in Irapuato killed two men and wounded four; Latinus counts 18 violent deaths in Guanajuato in three days. [91] Sheinbaum said Plan Michoacán is 67% complete and postponed security results to 10 November. [92]

Assessment: Explosive devices against homes in Mazatlán mark an escalation in Sinaloa cartel infighting.

MEXICO / US: Mexico recalibrates trade strategy after the midterms

Latin Times reports Mexico did not close a deal before the midterms and has no agreement yet on Section 232 tariffs; Washington still aims for interim arrangements by end-2026. [93] Sheinbaum welcomed the election of Mexican-American governors, including in California; Mexico News Daily reports a Democratic win in the Texas governor's race, not confirmed elsewhere in this collection. [94]

Assessment: Mexico City will likely keep negotiating with the executive while cultivating the incoming Congress.

TROPICS: Bermuda low at 50%; Central America system at 60%

NHC gives the low south of Bermuda a 30% chance of formation in 48 hours and 50% in seven days; it poses no land threat. [95] A broad low off Central America has 40% and 60% chances and could bring heavy rain regardless of development. [96]

Assessment: The East Pacific low is the main weather risk in the region this weekend.

Collection gap: No authoritative House tally (AP and NBC pages did not load). No new reporting on the Matamoros or Culiacán cases. The Bahamas was not checked.

// SOUTHCOM

VENEZUELA: Apure strike toll at 23 with civilians reported; Caracas silent

The NGO Fundaredes puts the toll at 23 and says the dead included suppliers, pilots and relatives of ELN members, among them a woman in her 60s. [97] [98] Reports differ on the US role: the WSJ is cited as saying US drones carried out the strike with Venezuelan "cooperation," while the NYT describes US intelligence and drones supporting a Venezuelan operation. [97] [99] The Rodríguez government has made no comment; a US official called bases "way, way down the road," and Venezuela's constitution bars foreign bases. [97] [100] No ELN statement was found.

Assessment: Civilian deaths and the constitutional bar on bases are likely to be the main friction points for a status-of-forces agreement.

COLOMBIA: 109 arrests on Esparta's first night; toll booth bombed

Operation Nemesis in Cúcuta reported 109 arrests on its first night; reported troop figures range from about 1,200 to over 10,000. [101] An explosive thrown at the Mediacanoa toll booth in Valle del Cauca caused damage but no injuries, the third such attack in under a month. [102] Colombian officials deny any role in the Venezuelan strike. [99]

Assessment: ELN retaliation for Apure remains likely but is not yet confirmed.

HAITI: Bukele says gangs "no longer have the upper hand"; UN says 200 Salvadorans under its mandate

Bukele said the deployment "is not an operation against the Haitian people, nor an invasion." [103] [104] UN spokesman Dujarric said only about 200 Salvadoran soldiers fall under the Gang Suppression Force. [105] The 400 Mawozo leader wrote to the UN seeking dialogue and claims the missing Salvadoran technicians are dead; San Salvador believes they are alive. [105] [99]

Assessment: Most Salvadoran forces operate outside the UN mandate, so accountability will be contested.

CENTRAL AMERICA: Heaviest rain expected through 9 November

El Salvador's Environment Ministry expects the heaviest totals along the coast and in the east from the weekend through 9 November. [106] NHC has raised the Pacific low to 60%. [96]

Assessment: Flood and landslide risk on the Pacific slope peaks from 7 to 9 November.

CUBA: 960 MW available against 2,850 MW demand

The state utility forecast a 1,890 MW deficit for 4 November with seven thermal units offline. [107] The Turkish power ship Erol Bey left Havana on 2 November, leaving one floating plant. [108]

Assessment: Generation covers about a third of peak demand, and another failure risks a grid collapse.

BRAZIL: Government asks Senate to annul Flávio Bolsonaro's vote cast from the US

Senator Randolfe Rodrigues asked that Flávio Bolsonaro's remote vote, decisive in a 38-36 procedural vote, be annulled. [109] Senate President Alcolumbre said "we will evaluate the point of order." [110]

Assessment: A ruling against him would escalate the standoff between the Bolsonaro family and Brazil's institutions.

ECUADOR: 1,072 detained in four days of curfew

The interior and defence ministries report 1,072 detentions from 1 to 4 November in five coastal provinces; the curfew runs to 10 November. [111] Local elections are on 29 November, with Revolución Ciudadana suspended. [112]

Assessment: Emergency measures will likely be extended to cover the campaign.

PERU: Tear gas at Huánuco water strike; land transferred for prisons

Police fired tear gas at protesters during a citywide strike over water shortages in Huánuco. [113] President Fujimori transferred 2,600 hectares for two prisons in Huacho. [114] The central bank chief said El Niño's impact will be limited. [115]

Assessment: Local unrest over services is the near-term stability risk.

Collection gap: No Caracas, ELN or SOUTHCOM statement on Apure, and the WSJ report was not accessible. Cubadebate did not load. No independent casualty data for Haiti. Bolivia, Argentina, Chile, Panama and Guatemala were not checked.
